Anonymous User	10/11/2021	The European cooperation is important for Budapest Metropolitan University, as our new way of teaching is through the program called "My Brand". It means that during their studies, the students are permanently part of projects, they are involved participants in real and ongoing programs and by the end of their studies they will have work practice in their profession and can present a portfolio of projects that they were involved in. Consequently, our university is called a Creative University where the contributors of project implementation are teachers and students equally. Concerning projects, TRIANGLE could widen the opportunities as well as the richness and scope of implementation knowledge could be increased.
Anonymous User	10/11/2021	Very much enjoyed connections and collaboration with the project members. Since my areas expertise and background are finance, climate change, disaster management and sustainability, I would like to discuss also other project ideas linked with tourism, in order to develop an interdisciplinary proposal.

Anonymous User	10/11/2021	My department has just created a new master degree on tourism, my interests are linked to my role as international-erasmus coordinator and I wish to create further possibilities for my students to enlarge their possibilities of international exchange. I am also very interested in international teaching, virtual and real exchanges etc. As such i take part in 2 different erasmus K projects based on exchanges of students for different virtual and practical activities.
